Making her return to the art gallery this weekend with a solo exhibition titled, Untamed Heart, artist Laila Khan Furniturewala's (below)newest collection seeks to break free from artistic boundaries. "The work for most of the artworks in the exhibition started in 2020. It was a period of deep reflection, compelling me to express my truth in its most unfiltered form. My recent work embodies a certain spiritual power. I believe this has manifested because I have been searching for an expression of divinity. With this collection, I wanted my heart to speak in its purest form," she told this diarist.
